GURUDWARA SRI BER SAHIB

During Guru Nanak's stay in Sultanpur Lodhi, he used to go everyday early morning to river Bein where after taking bath he would sit in meditation for long time and with the daybreak he would be at his seat in the State-store house at the post of his duty. A beri (tree) stands even now at the spot on the bank of the Bein where Guruji used to sit in contemplation of God. Gurudwara Ber Sahib, a magnificent gurudwara named after the Beri tree, stands at the site now. It was at this place that Guru ji disappeared after leaving his clothes in the supervision of an attendant much to the astonishment and amazement of everyone, he emerged from the river after 3 days and uttered the words ' Na Koi Hindu, Na Musalman' (There is No Hindu & No Musalman)."

GURUDWARA SRI SANT GHAAAT SAHIB

After 3 days of disappearance in Bein, Guru Nanak emerged 3 miles upstream from Gurudwara Ber Sahib. Gurudwara Sant Ghat is situated at this place. At this place Guru Nanak Dev ji pronounced the Mool Mantar. During Maharaja Ranjit Singh's regime the management of the Gurudwara vested in Udasi Mahants. Sant Sadhu Singh Nirmla, Jathedar Sant Singh Lasuri and Sant Udham Singh have done commendable work to reconstruct the new buildings at the site of the old building which was washed away during floods.

GURUDWARA SRI ANTARYAMTA SAHIB

The Gurudwara is a beautiful double storied building with a high central dome and Chhatris. The Gleaming white shrine has an expansive palm tree studded front yard surrounded by rooms that offer accommodation to devotees wishing to stay overnight. It is the place where in the Idgah, Guru Nanak Sahib realised the true meaning of Namaz to Nawab Daulat Khan and his maulvi.

GURUDWARA SRI KOTHRI SAHIB

After complaints of misappropriation at stores, Guru Ji was called to the house of the Accountant General, Jadu Rai to render accounts. After thorough checking, it was rather found that the State needed to pay money to Guru Nanak. Guru Nanak refused to take payment and instead asked the official to distribute it to the needy. The place where accounts were rendered has been named Gurudwara Kothri Sahib.

GURUDWARA SRI SEHRA SAHIB

At this sacred place Guru Arjan Dev Ji, stayed for a night while going to village Dalla during the marriage ceremony of his son Guru Hargobind Sahib Ji. The Gurudwara, within a brick paved walled compound, is an octagonal domed room in which the Parkash of Sri Guru Granth Sahib is done. The Sehrabandi of Guru Hargobind Singh is said to have been performed here. It is also said that Guru Nanak had established his first seat of mission at this site.

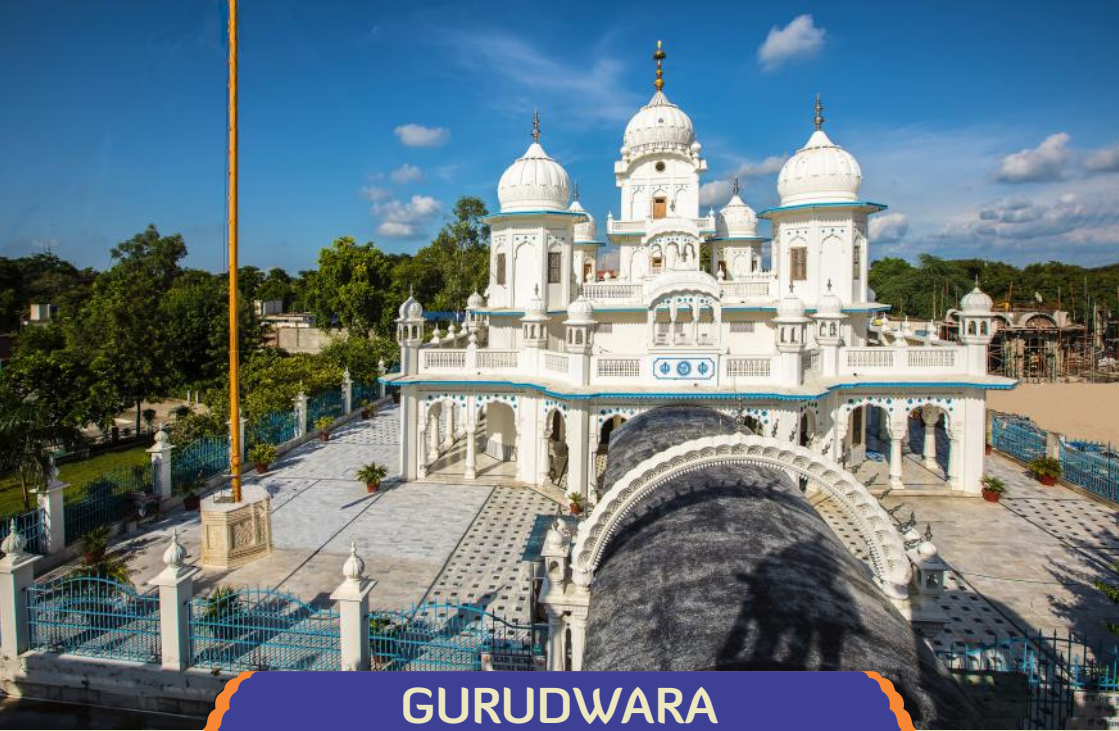

GURUDWARA SRI GURU KA BAAG SAHIB

The Gurudwara marks the house where Guru Nanak Dev ji and Bibi Sulakhani lived following their marriage. Their two sons, Baba Sri Chand and Baba Lakhmi Das were born here. This elegant marble-clad Gurudwara with a golden tiled dome has a façade punctuated by a cantilevered balcony with fine carving and pietra dura panels.

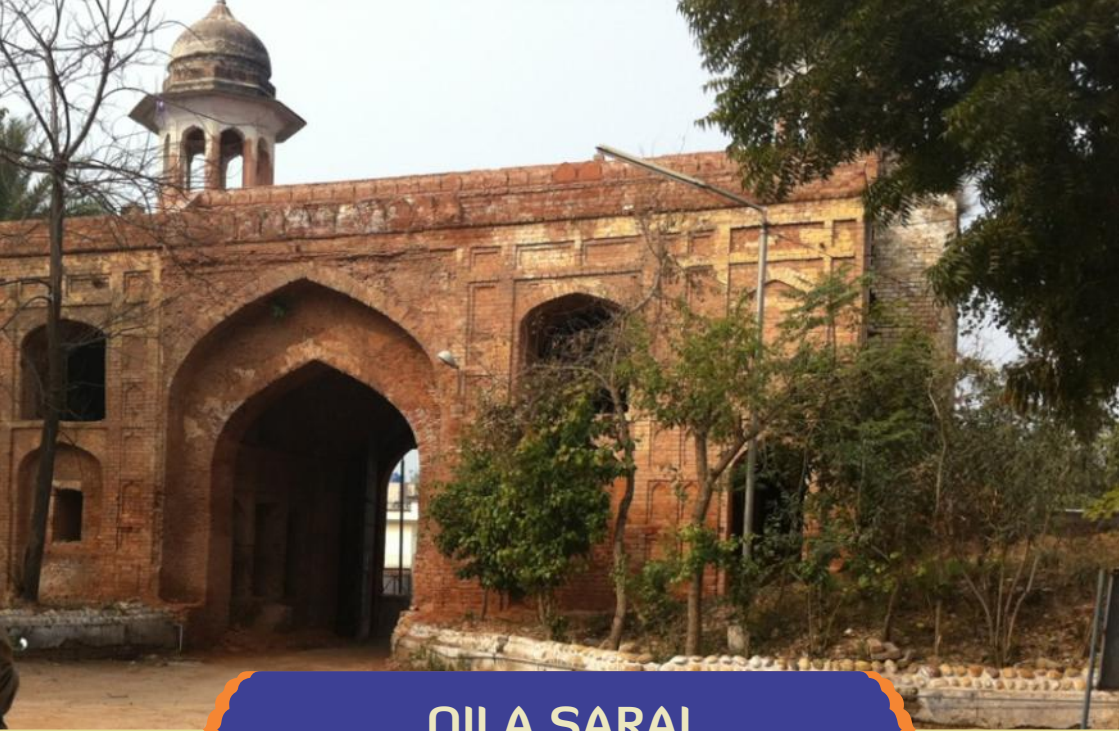

GURUDWARA BEBE NANAKI JI SAHIB

Gurudwara Bebe Nanaki Ji, constructed in 1970's, honours the memory of Bebe Nanaki, elder sister of Guru Nanak. The actual house, a three storeyed old building where Bebe Nanaki is believed to have lived with her husband, Jai Ram, is inside the old town in Mohalla Chhimbian. But the premises being in private possession, a public monument was raised in the form of a Gurudwara by Bebe Nanaki Istri Satsang Charitable Trust.

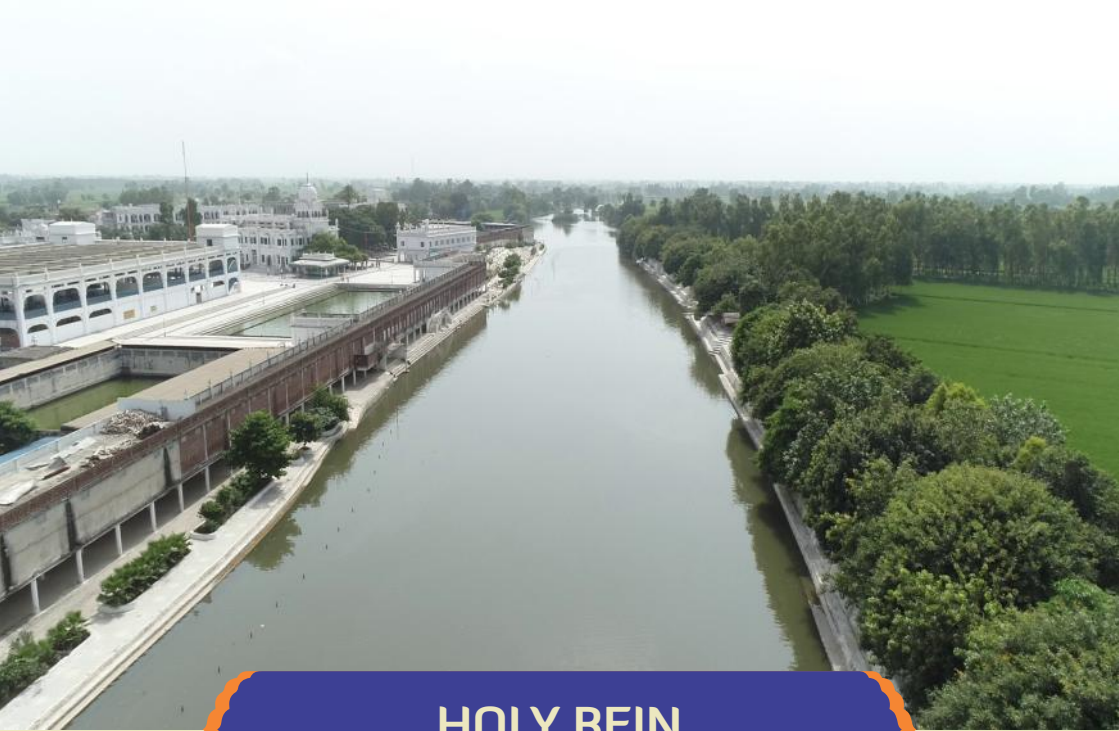

GURUDWARA SRI HATT SAHIB

Gurudwara Sri Hatt Sahib commemorates the time when Guru Nanak worked in the Modi khana (store) of which he was in-charge. Inside this beautiful building, with its brilliantly painted ceiling, is a collection of nine stone weights that nestle on a velvet spread, now burnished by touch and time. These are the weights the Guru is believed to have used while dutifully dispensing provisions. Encased in glass, they lie in close proximity to the marble Palki Sahib on top of which rests Guru Granth Sahib, covered in shimmering silk. The place where Guru ji worked as a Modi, has been named as Gurudwara Sri Hatt Sahib. This Gurudwara is situated on the back side of old fortress. It is said that here Guru Ji had been distributing provisions to saints, darveshs, qalandars and the needy.

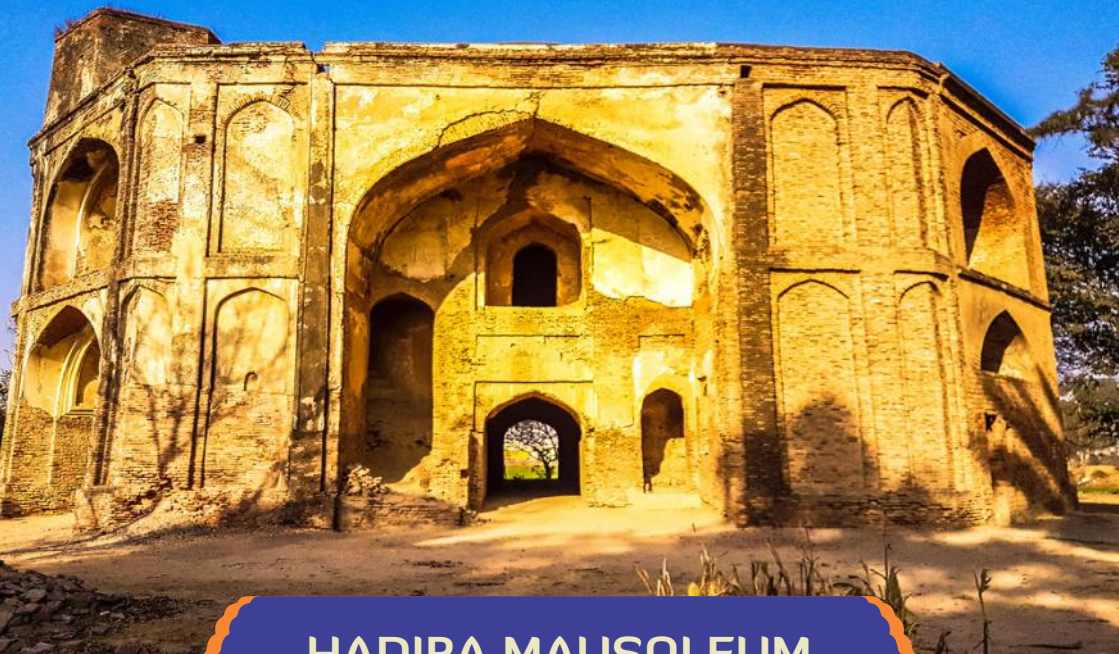

QILA SARAI

The presence of the ruins of this structure is witness to the past glory and importance that Sultanpur Lodhi town enjoyed. This is one of the many Sarais which are present on the Mughal highway from Agra to Lahore, where the travelling armies and people from the royal family used to stay. An amount of Rs. One Lakh was spent on its construction. Although, most of the building is in ruins, its two entrance gates are still standing, with Lahore Gate structure mostly intact. The Sarai presently houses Sultanpur Lodhi Police Station. Previously, it housed the Tehsil and the Courts. Inside the Qila Sarai is an old mosque, which is in fairly good condition. The importance of the mosque is also associated with Sri Guru Nanak Dev Ji.

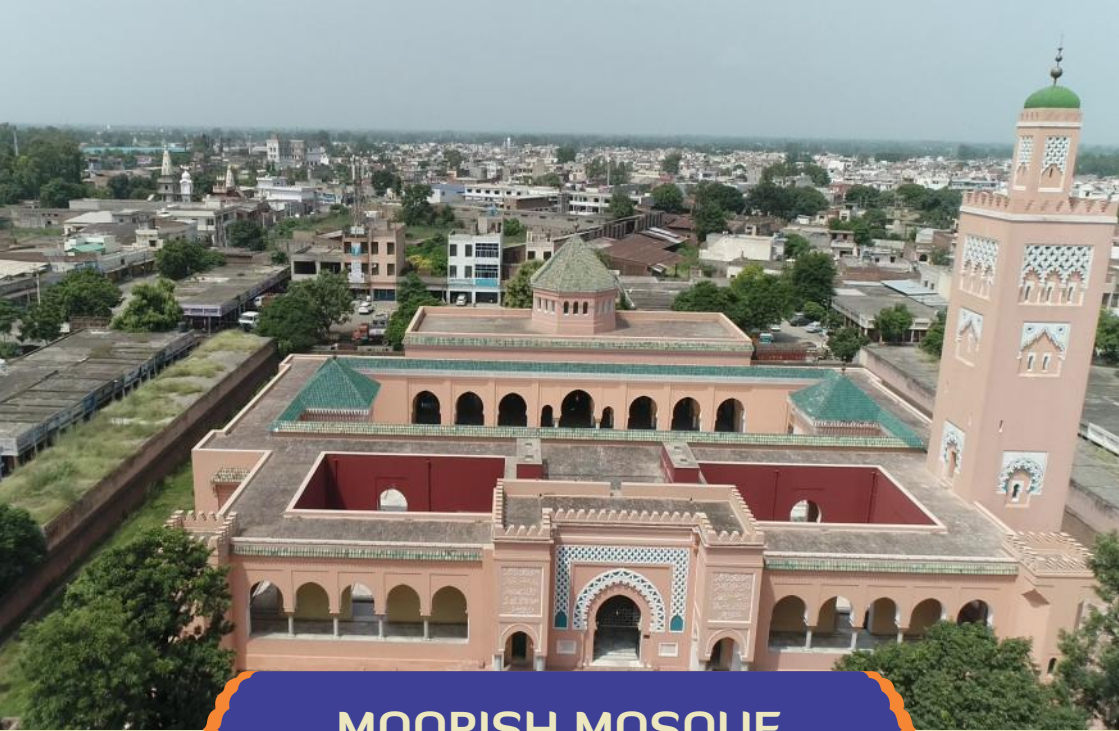

HOLY BEIN

The Punjabi word 'Bein' derives from the Sanskrit word 'Veni' meaning a stream or a water body. It is a rivulet that flows into the confluence of rivers Beas and Satluj at Harike. It is believed that Guru Nanak attained enlightenment after taking a bath in the Bein. Guru Nanak Dev Ji disappeared while bathing in the Bein only to emerge three days later. Guru Nanak Dev Ji then pronounced that "There is no Hindu and there is no Musalman. There is only one God and all are equal before Him."

HADIRA MAUSOLEUM

Hadira Mausoleum, Sultanpur Lodhi, District Kapurthala is located on the banks of the river Bein. It is a fine monument of strength, weight and balance built on an octagonal plan with four gates in cardinal directions. Its drum less squattish dome, broad pointed arches and open arched Jharokas (an ornamental sitting place jutting of the walls) add dignity to its austere design.

MOORISH MOSQUE

Kapurthala's unique Moorish Mosque was designed by the same French architect who designed the Jagatjit Palace, and stands testimony to the ruler's secularism. Inspired by the Koutoubia Mosque in Marrakesh (Morocco), the mosque was built in 1930 and consecrated in the presence of the Nawab of Bahawalpur. The inner dome was decorated by talented artists from Lahore's Mayo School of Art, and is today, the only mosque of this style in South East Asia. Various conservation bodies are in the process of restoring it to its former glory.
